Bright House Networks is now a media partner for the Domestic Abuse Council, Inc. Through this newly formed relationship, Bright House will air commercials that raise the community members' awareness about the issues surrounding domestic violence.

Bright House has committed to run the commercials are three to four key times during the year starting in January 2014. In addition to giving the non-profit in-kind air time over various channels on the cable network, Bright House will also be an event sponsor during the year.

The relationship is mutually beneficial. The airing of commercials allows the Domestic Abuse Council to bring the topic that is still considered by some as a social stigma to a large audience. Bright House will air the commercials on a broad spectrum of channels that mirror the demographics of both victims and donors. By raising awareness, Bright House Networks assists in educating the population of Volusia County as well as potentially contributing to the reduction of domestic violence incidents.
