Something old, Something new, something borrowed, something blue. And a lot of red. The event is called the Top That Red Hat luncheon and it is the fourth annual fundraising luncheon for the Domestic Abuse Council, Inc.

The Top That Red Hat Luncheon and fashion show will be on Feb 6, Thursday from 11:30-1:30 at the Palmetto Club in Daytona Beach.

Members of the Red Hat Society typically attend the fun lunch as well as members of the general community. This year, the event presents a twist. A fashion show has been added. The fashions are all items that have been donated to the Domestic Abuse Council Thrift Shop, hence something borrowed, something new and something old. There might be something blue.

To add a touch of class to the event, Daytona Beach Police Chief Michael Chitwood, will emcee the event in his tuxedo. The models are women community leaders and include Joie Alexander, retired county council woman and educator; Linda Bradley-Thacker, vice president of the University of Central Florida Daytona Beach campus; Gwen Azama-Edwards, radio host, prior Daytona Beach city commissioner; Jessica Scott, vice president of Brown & Brown Insurance; Lori Campbell-Baker, Director of Marketing & Community Relations for the Daytona Beach News Journal; Janet Kersey, manager Bruce Rossmeyers Harley Davidson; Nada Manley, freelance fashion writer; Cheryl Coxwell, International Speedway Corporation.

There is still time to buy a ticket to the event and cheer on your favorite model, laugh with the emcee's candor and witty quips, and support the Domestic Abuse Council. Inc.'s mission and programs.

Tickets are only $25.00 and must be purchased in advance. To reserve a seat at the event, call 386-257-2297 or go to the website and use paypal: domesticabusecouncil.com.
